

Sanctuary Bulletin #6

This week's gathering was ultra short, sharp and shiny... we were all pretty glad for that if you know what I mean! Zoooooom fatiiiiigüe..

Skatepark plans are moving on, if you've seen one you like somewhere else, or have any ideas, get in contact, we want to make it perfect for all ages, and custom fit for the youth of Mallacoota.

The Sanctuary gets together rain, hail or shine these days... It's a given with everyone inside, and it's good to see peoples' faces, even if we have to talk about insurance... and administration....

Sanctuary makeover is beginning the leap towards renewal- we're ready to start prepping and painting those damn walls! If you have expertise in this area and feel like lending a hand, shoot us an email at the address below. If you have muscles and like to lift things, or you like to rip some chipboard off of brick walls, again, shoot us a message!

This week, Airly says treat yourself to some yummy food and curl up into a ball contemplating the happiest most interesting moments of your life.... Because it's almost the end of winter! Not long until we'll all be basking in the sunlight, turning into happy little tomatoes and swimming in the happy little ocean on our doorstep. What lucky humans we are!

You can catch our radio show, Utopian Exspectators, live every Wednesday from 4:30pm till 6:30pm.

The Sanctuary Mallacoota has weekly meetings on Tuesday, which will now be via zoom, in order to keep up to date with everything that goes on. If you'd like to get involved, help, or become a volunteer, email to mallacootayouthcentre@gmail.com or check out sanctuarymyg.org. We'd love to hear from you and everyone is welcome to get involved!
